Our Christmas Vacation

HE day that is looked forward to, probably more than any other of our session, is nearly here. Every boy is counting the days, hours, and even the minutes until we leave barracks for the dear old B. & O.

There is hardly a boy in school who hasn't expressed his gratitude to Colonel and Major for the extra day given, because of the showing made by our team Thanksgiving. We hope that the corps will not do anything that will make them regret giving us the extra day, but we feel sure there is no one in our corps who will be so unappreciative.

Now, fellows let us go home to our parents, determined to make our Christmas vacation a pleasure to them. We should think of our parents' pleasure while we are with them on our vacation, as well as while away from them at school.

Let us spend our vacation in a way that will be a pleasure to relate to our fellow cadets when we return. We can spend it in such a way that we will almost wish we hadn't had it when it is over. They are often badly spent. There would be more vacations and holidays if they were always spent in a profitable way.

When the time comes to return, let's all return on time, and not a few come after everyone else has gotten to work. It is a hard task to leave home, especially after two weeks of good time, but it is easier to leave on time than late. It is easier to come back with the first and take up duties as they start, than to come late when everything has gotten a start. Now, let's all try to make this the best vacation we ever had.

The School Spirit on Thanksgiving Day

THE BAYONET wishes to congratulate the corps on the fine spirit shown at our Thanksgiving game. No team could have had better support than ours had throughout their hardest battle. It was the best shown at A. M. A. this season, if not for many years.

From the time the team came upon the field until the final whistle was blown the corps kept up a continuous volume of yells and songs. Such rooting wins games in spite of odds.

A great deal of credit is due to our efficient cheer leaders, Henson Gunby and Powell, who night after night toiled with the corps practicing yells and songs. May they keep up their good work.

Fellows, Root at all our games as you did Thanksgiving day and more success will attend our teams in the future.

A Boy on an Allowance

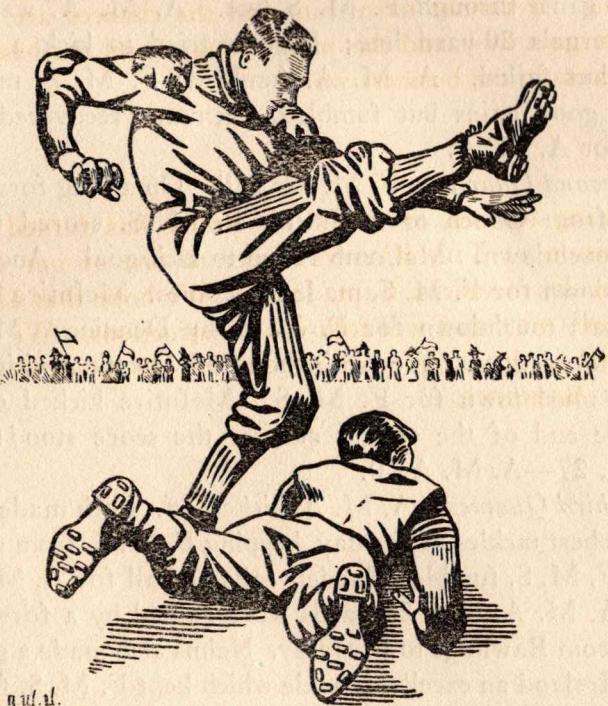

HALL a boy be put on an allowance? This is a problem which is of great interest to the boy and his parents also, his father in particular. Take, for instance, a son of the wealthy. He has known no limit to the amount of money at his disposal; and consequently has no idea of money value. Now he has a monthly allowance. He at once discovers that he cannot spend too freely at the first of a month without suffering before his next allowance comes in. This method also works with the son of moderate means. He, too, is made to realize the value of money and learn to check his foolish desires and to manage his funds in a business-like way. His monthly allowance is his salary and he learns to live within it and use it to the best of advantage. This method should bring satisfaction to the parent who has no longer to dole out dollar after dollar. The boy now has a feeling of responsibility, and how much better he is fitted for business and the future, by the training received while under an allowance. Give your son a trial under this method. It cannot harm him and the chances are that he may gain by it and this method may form the base of his success in the business world.

Owing to lack of time Col. Roller has turned the supervision of THE BAYONET over to one of our very able faculty members, Capt. Jacob. We hope that all of THE BAYONET staff will follow his instructions. We feel sure that in the capacity of advisor he will be invaluable to THE BAYONET.

A. M. A., 7—S. M. A., 7

The game which we looked forward to with the greatest pleasure was played Thanksgiving, A. M. A. vs. S. M. A.

The S. M. A. team arrived at Fort Defiance about two-thirty. They thought they would have a walk-over with our light team, but what happened? Listen, and you shall hear:

The day was just cold enough to put life in both teams. The ground was in excellent condition. One of the largest crowds ever seen on A. M. A. grounds was present to witness "The Game."

The crowd would even have been larger, but many people thought it would be an uninteresting game, owing to the fact that we had lost every game but one, and

S. M. A. had won every game but one. Not only the team, but every man in the corps had his whole heart and soul in the game. All through the game our corps was mad with either delight or suspense. It may be said in behalf of the corps that A. M. A. never had a team more loyally supported than it had on the day of November the twenty-seventh, 1913.

A great many of our alumni were present to witness this sensational game.

We entered the game with one of the poorest records ever made by an A. M. A. team. S. M. A. entered with one of the best records ever made by a team.

They out-weighed us by 10 pounds to a man.

Details of the Game:

A. M. A. won the toss-up. Burdett received S. M. A. kick-off, but only gained a few yards. We made the first ten yards on line plunges and a penalty as we didn't make the second ten yards, Rawlings punted. S. M. A.'s ball. They made ten yards; then came a score on a long forward pass, from Rosenberger, Thomas carried the ball across the goal line. Scott kicked goal. Score, S. M. A. 7, A. M. A. 0.

Burdett again received the kick-off without advance. We failed to gain our ten yards. Ball goes over. S. M. A. gains first down. A. M. A. is penalized ten yards for off-side. Rosenberger fumbles and recovers. S. M. A. is two yards from A. M. A. goal line. Aldrich fails to carry the ball over, and the ball exchanges hands. Rawlings punts. Garth is here substituted for Stephenson for A. M. A.. Two forward passes fail for S. M. A., and the ball goes over. First period ended, A. M. A.'s ball on her own forty-yard line.

Second Quarter—Aldrich receives Rawling's punt without advance; make two first downs, then the ball goes over. A. M. A. now starts her advance toward S. M. A.'s goal. Here Barger is substituted for Garth for A. M. A. A. M. A. makes two first downs then Rawlings punts. S. M. A. being off-side, the ball is returned to A. M. A. Burdett tries field goal from twenty-five-yard line, but fails. S. M. A.'s ball on their 20-yard line, they fail to make first down, and the ball goes over. A. M. A. makes first down, then fumbles S. M. A.'s ball by LaMarche. Nelms intercepts forward pass intended for Thomas on 30-yard line. Rawlings shoots long forward pass to Burdett, who is tackled on S. M. A.'s one-yard line; Burdett plays push-pins with the Kable line and carries the ball over the coveted line for a touchdown, and kicks goal. Score, S. M. A. 7, A. M. A. 7.

Laurer receives Burdett's kick-off without advance. They see-saw back and forth till the half ends. S. M. A.'s quarterback felt sick in last part of half and had to be taken out.

Second Half—Garth replaces Flemming for A. M. A.; Aldrich goes back as quarterback for S. M. A. There is little to be said about the second half. During the second half S. M. A. had to fight harder than she ever fought in her life to keep A. M. A. from scoring again.

During the last quarter Goodwin was called in for A. M. A. to try a drop kick, but owing to the fact that the ball was wet and slippery he failed, but only by a few inches.

The stars for A. M. A.: Burdett, Nelms, Mathias, For S. M. A.: Aldrich, Laurer, and Thomas.

BASKETBALL

HE basketball candidates were called out last Monday by Capt. Churchman, our coach for this year and many candidates responded to the call. Although Nelms is the only monogram man back, there are Shott, Fox and Rawlings, of the last year scrub team, who are showing up very good this year, so the prospects look very good for the coming season. The other candidates are, Burdett, F., Mathias, Sheppe, Jones, R. D., Rodrigues, Sanders, Palmer, Jennings, Morrasy, Loth, James, Henson, Ireland, Gilliam, T., and Callison.

Nelms was elected captain of the team for this season. There was no assistant captain elected owing to the fact that there was no other monogram man back. We are all looking forward to a prosperous, and with the team the best of success for the coming season, under the coaching of Capt. Churchman and leadership of their Capt. Nelms.

THE new setting-up exercises which have been introduced by Captain Jacob, are a great addition to our department of military. The cadets were at once interested in something new and the result is that they execute the setting-up exercises better than could be expected in so short a time. These new exercises do not benefit the military department alone, but help to develop the cadets physically. They will also be an addition to our final program when every cadet is proud of his company and what they can do.

The Progress of the Band

The band, under the instruction of Prof. Crowder, is progressing nicely. They have started playing the "Star Spangled Banner" at supper formation and are playing it well, considering the time they have had to practice. Several Marches have been tried and are being learned quickly. Some of the cadets say the band is no good and think it is a "crip's" delight. If these cadets can improve the band or want to become members of the so-called "Crip's Delight," they have the chance to make good.

The general improvement of the Battalion has been great, so great in fact, that battalion drill has been started several weeks earlier than usual this year.

Guns have been issued to all privates. The manual of arms could be improved on. It hasn't the "snap" about it it should have. The field movements are well executed, but don't think you are perfect because a perfect man hasn't been found yet.

OFFICERS OF THE Y. M. C. A.

President	CLEMMER
Vice-President	NELMS
Secretary and Treasurer	Crawford

E are sorry to say that the attendance hasn't been good at the last several meetings. What is the cause of this? Some have put it on the officers, for not going around every Sunday night and giving every boy a personal invitation to the meeting. This has been neglected badly it is true, but why should we wait for an invitation every Sunday night. Certainly every boy knows that he is welcome to every meeting if he hasn't paid his dues, or even if he doesn't call himself a member. There are a few of our boys who think it quite brilliant to say, "I don't intend to join the Y. M. C. A." The boy who doesn't feel that he can afford to pay one dollar to this cause is excusable, but this is very seldom the case.

Now, fellows let us get up new interest in the Y. M. C. A. and correct these unnecessary faults.

OFFICERS OF GERMAN CLUB

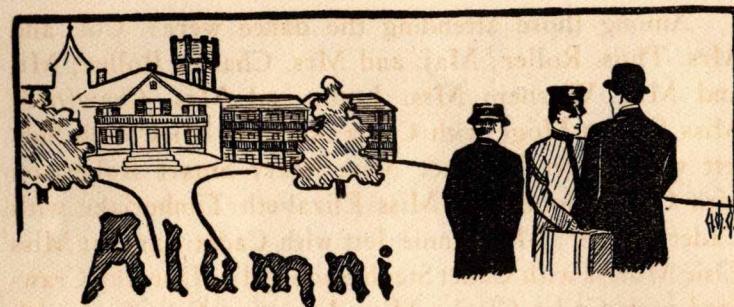

President	J. F. CLEMMER
Vice-President	T. S. RAY
Sec. and Treas.	A. NELMS

A. M. A.'s first dance this session was given Friday, Nov. 28th, in Memorial Hall, and it is said by all who attended that it excelled any dance ever given by our German Club. The spacious Hall was decorated for the occasion in the school colors, and with numerous pennants, banners, and many original designs. Blue and white bunting was arched from gallery to gallery, and in the early part of the evening the cadets were thrown into a great state of enthusiasm when the lights were suddenly extinguished and the following appeared in big, black letters, on an electrically lighted white disc: "Victory is Ours—A. M. A. 7, S. M. A. 7." The music was furnished by the Staunton Colored Orchestra, which gave snappy music, and many encores.

If we have neglected to exchange with any who have sent their magazine to us, we would appreciate having our attention called to the fact.

Should you not send us your magazine, we will think that you do not wish to receive THE BAYONET, and will reluctantly discontinue sending it to you. We hope, however, this will never occur.

The Critic, Lynchburg Virginia. You have an excellent school publication. Your athletic department would be improved by the line-up of the games.

Capt. Boyd: Burdett, do you understand French?
 Burdett: Yes, if it is spoken in English.

Major: Show me some mercury.

Lora: I don't see any.

Major: There it is.

Lora: That is quicksilver, sir.

Major: Who was that laughed aloud?

Witt (trembling): I did sir, but I didn't mean to.

Major: You didn't meant to do it?

Witt: No, sir; I laughed in my sleeve and I didn't know there was a hole in the elbow.—Ex.

Rawlings: Major, did you ever see a Molecule?

Maj.: No, sir.

Rawlings: Have you ever seen any one who has seen a molecule?

Maj.: No, sir.

Rawlings: What makes you think there is such a thing?

Maj., (after thinking): Rawlings, did you ever see your brains?

Rawlings: No sir.

Maj.: Have you ever seen anyone who has seen your brains?

Rawlings: No sir.

Maj.: Then what makes you think you have any?

Sharp (butting in): I don't sir.

Kiss, is a noun, but is generally used as a conjunction. It is very seldom, if ever, declined. It is not very singular, always plural. It is more common than proper, and it agrees with me.

Lives there a man with many millions who never to himself doth say, "I wish I had a nickel."

Advice to Nelms—A stitch in time saves—embarrassing exposures.

If Ferguson is dull,
Is Bob Sharp?

Goodrich (about 9:30 p. m.): Massie, are you going out for football?

Massie: No fool, I'm going out for tattoo.

Maj.: Ford, do you ever sweep under the bed?

Ford: Yes sir, I always sweep everything under the bed.

In Bangor, Wales, Churchyard is to be seen the following:

"Poor Martha Suell, hurs gone away,
Hur would if could but hur couldn't stay;
Hur had two sore legs and a baddish corf,
But her legs it was as carried her orf."

Burdett, F.: Have you read "Freckles?"

Sallie, (quickly): Oh, no; that's my veil.

Gilkerson, answering report for laughing at drill.

Major: Why! sir.

Gilkerson: Oh! sir; I had a hole in my shoe and the grass tickled my foot.

Capt. Churchman: Johnson, what is a male chicken?

Johnson: A hen, sir.

He told the shy maid of his love,
The color left her cheeks;
But on the lapel of his coat,
It showed for many weeks.

—Ex.

Once upon a gray dawn, dreary,
As I pondered weak and weary
O'er the remedy for Ford's snore,
Suddenly there came a tapping,
As of some roughly rapping,
Rapping at my chamber door,
Then I said, 'Tis old "Pete"
Rapping at my chamber door,
Just his tail and nothing more.

Then louder now had grown the tapping,
Up I sprang, my night shirt flapping,
As I ambled toward the door,
'Tis the O. D., I muttered,
Rapping at my chamber door,
This it is and nothing more,
Here, I opened wide the door.

Then the O. D.'s face beguiling
My sad fancy into smiling
By the strange and stern decorum
Of the countenance it wore,
Though thy hair be red and long,
"Thou," he said, "cannot escape me,
For I am never in the wrong."
Lay you in from "Rev." no more,
With this the O. D. closed the door.

SHE Emanuel Episcopal Church, of Staunton, Virginia, was the scene of the prettiest wedding ever seen in that city, on Wednesday night, November 25th, when Captain Herbert A. Jacob, a member of the faculty and Assistant Commandant of the Augusta Military Academy, was united in marriage to Miss Mary Ewers Schreckhise, of that city. The church was beautifully decorated with brides' roses and other flowers. The maid of honor was Miss Mattie Schreckhise, of Staunton. Mr. Cary Jacob, of Richmond, was best man. Misses Lucile Nelson, of Richmond, Ella Anderson, of Charleston, W. Va., Martha Bell and Rachael Speck, both of Staunton, were bride's maids. The ushers were Messrs. Herman Smidt, of Richmond; James Alexander, of Lynchburg; John White and Fred Valz, both of Staunton; Harry Fitzgerald, a former member of the faculty of A. M. A., and Captain Warren S. Robinson.

Captain and Mrs. Jacob, left immediately after a reception on their honeymoon of ten days, for Richmond and other places. Captain and Mrs. Jacob have returned to A. M. A. where they will make their future home.

The joy of the cadets after the S. M. A.-A. M. A. game and a splendid Turkey dinner resulted in the largest bon-fire ever built on these grounds. Two four-horse wagons were filled with lumber and pine stumps and pulled by the cadets over to the school. After saturating the pile with gasoline, Major Roller touched it off. A great billow of flame arose with the school songs and yells, which continued until after ten o'clock, when the call-to-quarters reminded many of the neglected and forgotten boxes they had received from home. Late that night many made merry, but there was indeed a sad feeling and procession as the corps wended their way to reveille, with woeful thoughts of the turkey and cake, that they had over indulged in the previous night.

The school has had great pleasure in seeing the following alumni that attended the Thanksgiving football game: Messrs. Frank Gilliam, Theodore Waters, Frank Fox and Floyd Bowman, all of Washington and Lee; Clarence Crist, Sidney Goodman, Jack Gunby and William Sharp, all of U. Va.; John Gallagher, of V. M. I.

Among the cadets' parents and friends who have been to the school are: Mrs. E. L. Barley and son, Master Richard Barley, of Bluefield, West Virginia; Mr. John S. Witt, of Lynchburg Va.; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Warner and son, Master Vincent Warner, of Charlottesville, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Curtis and daughter, Miss Elsie Curtis, of Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Crockett and Miss Ellen Simmermann, of Wytheville, Va.; Mrs. S. O. Berliner and Mrs. R. Ottenburg, of Washington, D. C.; and Mrs. W. J. Loth, of Waynesboro, Va.

A delightful informal party was given by the members of the sub-faculty in honor of Mrs. G. V. Beckman, who has been visiting Mrs. T. J. Roller, Captain H. A. Jacobs and his bride, and the ladies of the post, on Thursday night, December 4th. The table was tastefully decorated by ribbons draped from the chandelier. The color scheme was in green. Ferns twined about candles, giving off a soft glow through their colored shades, formed quite an artistic display. Delicious refreshments were served. Those present: Mrs. G. V. Beckman; Mrs. T. J. Roller; Maj. and Mrs. C. S. Roller; Captain and Mrs. H. A. Jacob; Miss Margaret Bell Roller; Miss Petty, and Captains, Boyd, Churchman, Ashburner and Robinson.

REFINEMENT

ES, that's the word—it's the undefinable thing that marks the boundary between the vulgar and the cultured; the something which distinguishes between the artistic and the plain. Our printing has this refinement—this touch of the artist which raises it above the ordinary; it pleases the eye, attracts the attention and gives satisfaction to the reader, and carries its message home. It takes more than ink and paper to make handsome printing—it requires thought, and care, and skill, and love for the work—in a word, it requires the heart of an artist. Our efforts have for some years been directed toward the printing of school publications of the various kinds—magazines, annuals and papers, and we think the result has been to place us in an enviable position in this line of printing. At any rate we should be glad to have you investigate.
